DISTINGUISHED FACULTY AWARD

The Distinguished Faculty Award is presented each year to a member of the faculty selected by a committee of faculty, students, administration, and alumni for excellence in classroom teaching, scholarship, advisement and leadership of students, together with participation in civic and community affairs. The recipient of the award this year is

Joseph T. Cotter, A.M.

Associate Professor of English

HONORARY DEGREE

Doctor of Laws

ROBERT JOHN HENLE, S.J.....President,
Georgetown University

From St. Louis to Toronto, Latin America and Washington, the exceptional mind of Robert Henle has been at the cutting edge of learning and education for some forty years.

In a career both distinguished and distinctive, Father Henle has won not only the praise of his peers in philosophy and education, but the gratitude of his colleagues who with him labor for higher education committed to a set of values.

Few have such a rich variety of educational experience. An outstanding teacher from the beginning, Father Henle, before completion of his own studies, published a Latin textbook which makes his name known even today among high school students. His mastery of the classics, coupled with penetrating insight, carried him naturally into the field of philosophy. In 1943 he joined the faculty of St. Louis University, where he quickly took a leading place beside the best men of that day. He wrote prolifically and served as editor of The Modern Schoolman, a journal of philosophy, from 1945 to 1950. He was also widely believed to be the best teacher on the St. Louis faculty in the post-World War II period when returning veterans demanded the most of their professors under the worst of circumstances.

Ironically, his success as a teacher propelled him from the classroom into administration, where his hard-pressed superiors had to cope simultaneously with physical growth and modernization of method during a period of rapid change. During two decades of service in planning and administration as graduate dean and later academic vice president on his own campus, Father Henle also became perhaps the leading national voice of the Jesuits in redefining and articulating the thrust of the religious university in a secular society. His achievement led naturally, it seems in retrospect, to the presidency of 180-year old Georgetown, the first Catholic university in America, for whose founder this university is named.

Although capable of warm friendships and comfortable among the things of the world, those who know him see Father Henle as a man apart, completely dedicated to the service of God in the authentic tradition of the priesthood. It is for this completeness of his life's work as priest, scholar, friend, and colleague, as well as for his recognition in the world of education that John Carroll University honors him today.

Therefore, Reverend President, on behalf of the faculties of John Carroll University, I recommend that the degree of Doctor of Laws be conferred honoris causa upon the Reverend Robert John Henle of the Society of Jesus.

THE GEORGE E. GRAUEL FACULTY FELLOWSHIPS

Two faculty fellowships for research and writing are awarded each year in memory of the late Dr. George E. Grauel, member of the faculty and administration at John Carroll University, 1933-67.

These fellowships are awarded for 1971-72 to

Nicholas S. DiCaprio, Ph.D.
Assistant Professor of Psychology

C. Joseph Pusateri, Ph.D.
Assistant Professor of History

We pray Thee, O almighty and eternal God, who through Jesus Christ hast revealed Thy glory to all nations, to preserve the works of Thy mercy; that Thy church, being spread through the whole world, may continue, with unchanging faith, in the confession of Thy name.

We pray Thee, O God of might, wisdom, and justice, through whom authority is rightly administered, laws are enacted, and judgment decreed, assist, with Thy Holy Spirit of counsel and fortitude, the President of these United States, that his administration may be conducted in righteousness, and be eminently useful to Thy people over whom he presides, by encouraging due respect for virtue and religion; by a faithful execution of the laws in justice and mercy; and by restraining vice and immorality. Let the light of Thy divine wisdom direct the deliberations of the Congress, and shine forth in all the proceedings and laws framed for our rule and government; so that they may tend to the preservation of peace, the promotion of national happiness, the increase of industry, sobriety, and useful knowledge, and may perpetuate to us the blessings of equal liberty.

We pray for his Excellency, the Governor of this State, for the members of the Assembly, for all judges, magistrates, and other officers who are appointed to guard our political welfare; that they may be enabled, by Thy powerful protection, to discharge the duties of their respective stations with honesty and ability.

We recommend likewise to Thy unbounded mercy all our brethren and fellow-citizens, throughout the United States, that they may be blessed in the knowledge, and sanctified in the observance of Thy most holy law; that they may be preserved in union and in that peace which the world cannot give; and, after enjoying the blessings of this life, be admitted to those which are eternal.

Abridged from a prayer composed by Archbishop Carroll, A.D. 1800, for the United States of America.

The custom of wearing academic gowns, caps, and hoods dates back to about the twelfth century and probably had its inception in France, where the wearing of the cap and gown marked the formal admission of the licentiate to the body of masters. The cold buildings of medieval times in which the masters were obliged to teach required capes and hoods which naturally were patterned after the prevailing dress of the times. Since a large number of the scholars were clerics, the robes resembled more the appearance of the monk's dress. The hoods were fashioned after the monk's cowl and were attached to the gown so that they might be drawn over the head. Later, when the hood was displaced by the skull cap as a head covering, it was made separately from the gown. The skull cap evolved into a pointed cap which is evidenced today in the mortar board with its tassel.

With such a development it is natural that there would be a great variety of styles and usages. In order to have uniformity, an Intercollegiate Code of Academic Costumes has been adopted by practically all the leading institutions of learning, with the result that today the gowns and hoods of this country are a badge of learning symbolic of the degree attained.

This code calls for three types of gowns: the bachelor's, master's, and doctor's. The bachelor's gown is made with an open or closed front and has long pointed sleeves. The master's gown is an open-front garment with extremely long closed sleeves, the arms protruding through a slit at the elbow. The ends of the sleeves are square and are further characterized by an arc appearing near the bottom. The doctor's gown is also an open-front garment, but the sleeves are bell-shaped and the length of the arm. There are wide, black velvet panels or facings down the front with three velvet bars upon each sleeve. The velvet may be the color of the degree instead of black.

While the types of gowns evolved are considered to be an improvement on other styles, it is in the hood that the American character is personified. Simple yet beautiful, each degree — bachelor's, master's, doctor's — is represented by a distinct shape or form. The bachelor's hood is the smallest of the three, the velvet edging is narrower, and less of the lining is exposed. The master's hood is the same length as the doctor's, the velvet edging is somewhat wider than that of the bachelor's, and more of the lining can be seen. The doctor's hood is easily recognizable by the width of the velvet edging, the wide panels at either side, and the full exposure of the lining.

The lining of the hood indicates the colors of the institution conferring the degree, and the color of the velvet trimmings shows the kind of degree.

Alma Mater

*Sons of Carroll, gather near her,
Let your joyful anthem ring;
Sound your Mother's praise, revere her;
Her fair name full proudly sing.*

*Loyal ever, brave and true,
We, the sons of Carroll U.,
Pledge our love to Alma Mater,
To the Gold and Blue.*

*Unto noble conquests guiding,
Kindled she our hearts to strife;
Wisdom taught us, faith-abiding,
Showed us manhood—worth of life.*

*Grateful hearts we bring to you;
Hail with song our Carroll U.
Long may live our Alma Mater,
Long—the Gold and Blue.*
